

-two diamonds on both ends of a line mean they are both dependent on each other or they can both access each other's page/content

-one arrow one end of a line means the file/object that is pointing to another file/object is dependent or can access the contents of that file/object it is pointing to.

Michael